I have worked as an actor under Victor Kline's direction in a number of productions and have found the experiences inspiring and creatively refreshing.

Victor is a dynamic and creative director with an extraordinary vision for his work. His vision and directions are communicated thoroughly and effectively to cast and crew. Victor is also open to suggestion and input which is much appreciated by us actors and makes for a happy work environment, even when the subject matter has been rather dark and emotional.

Victor's passion for the work never fails to filter through to his cast. He provides an enthusiastic, safe and trusting work environment for his actors, resulting in a feeling of confidence in portraying our ideas and cementing strong choices in our own work. The organic nature in which our characters build under Victor's direction is immensely satisfying and I would jump at the chance to work with him again.

I have also joyfully noticed how various crews have reacted to Victor. Victor's incredible professionalism and fantastic organisational skills shines through his communication with them and I can tell there is a mutual respect there that is visibly lacking in some other productions I have been involved in without Victor at the helm.

Throughout the whole process, from casting through to rehearsals and performances, Victor has demonstrated an exceptional ability to make actors feel comfortable and at ease in the creative environment. Victor constantly and consistently exceeds my expectations, always going above and beyond his necessary duties as a director. He is truly an actor's director and I have no hesitation in recommending Victor to you in order to further develop and refine his talent.
